Chamois hunting in Velebit

Offer 2514

Hunting Area: The Velebit is a mountain range in the coastal region of Croatia. The mountain area includes two national parks. The Velebit forms a climate barrier between the Mediterranean climate and the mountainous climate of the interior. With a length of 145 km, the Velebit is the longest massif of the Dinaric Alps. The width of the Velebit ranges from 10 to 30 km. The Velebit is predominantly densely forested on the east side facing the mainland. On the coastal side, the vegetation is mostly sparse. It is a unique hunting area in the coastal mountain slopes of the northern Velebit mountains. The physically stronger chamois in the Balkans can reach up to 120 CIC points for their horns.

Accommodation / Meals:

Accommodation is in a cozy guesthouse located within the hunting area. The food is Mediterranean and excellent!
