Offer Nr.: 2568

Rut Stags in Western Hungary

The Hunting Ground:

The nearly 14,000-hectare hunting ground is located in Western Hungary between the cities of Sopron and Sarvar. It is a flat to slightly hilly area. Approximately 50% of the area is covered with deciduous forest. The agricultural fields are regularly interrupted by fallow land, which provides an ideal habitat. Annually, about 1000 red deer (stags with antler weights of 4-9 kg), 250 roe deer (bucks with antler weights of 200-300 grams), and around 900 wild boars are harvested. Accommodation is provided in two hunting lodges located within the hunting grounds.

Costs:

3 travel days with 2 overnight stays and 4 stalking trips, including accommodation and half-board in a double room, 1:1 guided stalking, Hungarian hunting license, and processing fee per hunter: € 395.-
Companion in double room/half-board: € 67,-/day; Single room surcharge: € 15,-/night; Dog in hunting lodge: € 20,-/night per dog; Additional hunting day/hunter with half-board: € 95,-)
