Roe Deer Hunting in Transylvania

Offer Nr.: 2571

Roe Deer Calling Hunt in Transylvania:

In the valley of the Maros (Mures) River, there are six adjacent hunting areas with a total area of approximately 70,000 hectares, which have a very good roe deer population. Bucks with antler weights of 400 to 600 grams are quite realistic, with occasional larger ones being harvested. The hunting area is a very varied, highly hilly landscape with alternating forests, fields, and meadows. Long distances are covered by car, followed by stalking. All bucks are taken from a stalking stick or while lying down; there are no high seats. There is very little hunting pressure. Only 35 bucks are harvested on 10,000 hectares – this is practically no intervention! The bucks can really grow old here! Off the main roads, there is almost no infrastructure. Approaching the remote villages on a gravel road feels like stepping back in time 100 years. The hunting area also has many wild boars (hunting season - all year round).

Accommodation for hunting guests includes options such as the Haller Castle Hotel or selected guesthouses.
