Rut Stags in Zala

The Hunting Ground:

The entire state hunting ground covers an area of over 65,000 hectares, located in the Zala County in Western Hungary and is divided into seven forestry districts. The forest management has been known for many decades as a classic big game hunting area, with an excellent population of red deer and wild boar. Other game species include roe deer and some small game. Over many decades, a highly structured red deer population has been established here. Every year, old, mature stags are harvested. Most stags weigh between 6-9 kg, but annually some stags with antler weights around 10 kg and 1-2 above are also harvested. The rutting season is excellent. The forest management is also famous for its excellent organization and perfect service.

In each of the seven forestry districts, there is a first-class and cozy hunting lodge available for hunting guests. The lodges are always located in particularly scenic spots within the hunting grounds and offer the shortest paths to the hunting areas due to their central location.

Possible Hunting Dates: 1st - 30th September – by arrangement
